LABOR TROUBLE DELAYS GOVERNMENT BUILDING

Forty Iron Workers Quit Work on Interior Department Structure—Settlement Expected Today.

Because other employees engaged in the construction of the new interior department building at Eleventh and E streets northwest were not union men, about forty iron workers went on a strike yesterday.

When the ironworkers were asked to construct derricks for the stoneworkers, they found that, while the stoneworkers were presumed to be union men, they were not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The contractors expect to effect a settlement of the strike today, but the work on the building has been delayed temporarily.
